UNIVERSITY

What is ACROSS?

ACROSS is university alliance consisting of 9 partners throughout Europe and one associated partner in Ukraine. It has for objective to develop tailored trans-national solutions in education, research and knowledge transfer for cross-border regions. The alliance is funded by the European Union within the program "European Universities Initiative".

What is Open Science?

Open Science stands for strategies and procedures for making all components of scientific processes openly accessible, comprehensible and reusable via the internet, such as publications (Open Access), research data (Open Data), learning materials (Open Educational Resources), software (Open Source) and review processes (Open Review). It also strives for integrating non-professionals in research (Citizen Science).

Why does ACROSS engage in and for Open Science?

ACROSS believes that opening science to the highest degree possible counts among the keys for successful and future-oriented development of universities because

- + it facilitates the cross-border dissemination of knowledge,
- + it enhances the cross-border collaboration and cooperation in research,
- + it promotes the cross-border development of innovative (digital) teaching and learning and
- + it prepares the ground for cross-border networks with partners from extramural research institutions, economy, politics and society for successful knowledge transfer.

Why does the ACROSS Open Science Week happen from October 20-26?

The ACROSS Open Science Week corresponds with the International Open Access Week, happening within the same period of time and in which the alliance partners are additionally engaged.
